Mayor Steve Black was born on April 20, 1982 in Oshawa, Ontario where he spent his childhood. He attended Queen's University where he obtained a degree in Mining Engineering. From there, Steve came north to Timmins, Ontario where he spent 16 months completing a co-op term at Kidd Creek Mine. In August of 2005, he was offered and accepted a full-time position at Kidd Operations where he fell in love with the city he now calls home.

In 2010, Steve let his name stand for a position on Council where he was elected Councillor, Ward 5. He enjoyed his 4 years on Council where he was able to broaden his knowledge of the great city he calls home.

Throughout his term as Councillor, Steve was passionate and outspoken on many issues, always looking to improve the quality of life for the residents, both young and old alike. It is this passion for the community and his active lifestyle that led to his desire to serve the residents and to run for Mayor in 2014; he was elected with a strong majority. Steve is a visionary. He strongly believes that the city has a lot of room for growth and development of its recreational activities for all members of the community, whether those activities include organized sports, walking/hiking/biking on our beautiful trail network or just getting out to the park with family and friends. He believes that it is the responsibility of elected officials to provide the opportunity for all members of the community to live a safe and healthy life.

According to Steve, "There is a sense of pride in our region that is rarely seen elsewhere. There is a quality of life that differentiates us from the others, something that is special, unique and priceless. The people living here love the lifestyle and our accessibility to outdoor recreational activities. Above all they want their family and friends to stay in Timmins."

The two largest influences in Steve's life are his 2 beautiful children, daughter Jenna and son Connor, both born at the Timmins and District Hospital. They both inspire Steve to stay focused on his long term vision for the City of Timmins.
